HOW TO APPLY THE BAGUA MAP TO A FLOOR PLAN

Line up the bottom of the bagua map with the door that contains the main entrance in your home.

You can also find the location of your life areas by measuring the width and the length of the home and then dividing each measurement by 3 so that you can create a tic-tac-toe by joining the dots.

Note: Some areas may be outside of the home.

Each of these areas has been assigned an element, a number, a season and a set of colors. We can use this information to choose “cures” or enhancements in the home or office that relate to the Life Area that we wish to improve. In order to find out where the Life Areas are located in your building, draw a tic-tac-toe grid over the floor plan of your home or office. You can do this by measuring the overall width and length and then dividing those measurements by three and marking the spots. Then draw lines to join the dots. If your building is square you will end up with nine smaller squares of equal size. If it is rectangular, you will have nine small rectangles of equal size. If your building is “L” or “C” shaped, some of the areas may be outside of the floor plan.

WARNING: These are NOT the colors recommended for the walls in the rooms located in these areas. The colors are only for the cures. .
